Want Data Sent Towns

A communication was received from the Richmond Industrial commission requesting the board to forward data concerning the inner harbor and municipal tunnel project to the following cities: Sacramento, Marysville, Turlock, Modesto and Merced. The idea is to let the people of these centers know something

NEW PICTURE OF CITY TO BE TAKEN

Views of the inner and outer harbor, together with a number of views about this city, will be taken tomorrow afternoon, when City Clerk A. C. Fariss, in company with Paul Edwards, of the Richmond Industrial commission, will have Photographer Padilla take a complete set of new views of this city.

The pictures will be first used in the Portola festival, following which they will be sent to Washington, whence they will be exhibited in congress.

FRED CLEVES MARRIED TO BROTHERS WIFE

At a very simple wedding held yesterday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. C. A. Clark, Mrs. Myrtle Cleaves became the bride of Fred Cleaves. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Aubrey Wilson, of the First Christian church of this city.

Mrs. Cleaves was formerly the wife of the groom's brother, who died a few years ago. The couple came to this city to have the marriage ceremony performed so as to avoid notoriety.

MENDOCINO PIONEER CALLED BY DEATH

Alexander Thompson, a wealthy rancher of Mendocino county, who has been visiting in this city at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Paul Beatty, passed away last evening after suffering from a short illness. He is survived by a wife and the following children: Thomas Thompson and Mrs. Fred Jensen of Arizona, Mrs. Anna Thornback of Los Angeles, Mrs. Melvina Rice of Washington and Mrs. Paul Beatty of this city. The remains are at the Curry Undertaking parlors awaiting the funeral, which is to take place later.

ALICE MALONE TAKEN BY GRIM REAPER

Mildred Alice Malone, the six-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steven A. Malone, passed away at her home on the corner of Second and Ohio streets this morning.

The little girl had been suffering but a short time and her death was a severe shock to her relatives, who thought that she would soon recover from her illness. The remains will be at the Curry undertaking parlors, on Washington avenue.

WOMAN SLAYER TELLS PITIFUL STORY ON STAND IN HER DEFENSE TODAY

SLAYER OF FRANCES TONSONG TAKES THE STAND IN HER OWN DEFENSE AND FAINTS WHEN DIRECT EXAMINATION AS TO CRUEL AND IMMORAL ACTS OF HER PARAMOUR—MOTHER OF SLAIN MAN CONTRADICTS HER TESTIMONY GIVEN AT PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION AND AT CORONER'S INQUEST—CASE MAY BE CONCLUDED TOMORROW WHEN JURY WILL DECIDE FATE OF WOMAN—PHYSICIAN TESTIFIES AS TO MENTAL CONDITION OF DEFENDANT

The last witness called in the Tonsong murder trial late yesterday afternoon was Dr. Cunningham, of Richmond. This physician was called to the Tonsong home at the time of the shooting on July 24th, and when the doctor arrived he found Tonsong dead. He testified that Mrs. Jessie Tonsong, mother of the dead man, made the remark to him that the shooting had been accidental. This statement is now denied by the mother of the deceased.

Mrs. Tonsong, who testified yesterday, made several important contradictions in her testimony. Her testimony did not match with that given at the coroner's inquest and at the preliminary examination of the defendant. The defense was quick to take advantage of this and under cross-examination these contradictions were brought out clearly so that there was no danger of the jury falling in with the note of this important point in favor of the accused.

This morning the court room was crowded with spectators. It was generally known last evening that the defendant would take the stand in her own behalf today and all those who had nothing else to do went to the court house to hear the unfortunate victim of man's perfidy tell her sad story.

Mrs. Castevens, known as Mrs. Josephine Tonsong, took the stand this morning shortly after court convened. She was somewhat pale and it was clear that she was extremely nervous. After being sworn she began her story. She spoke in a clear, but hesitating voice. When she recounted the many acts of cruelty towards her practiced by the man she slew, she seemed to be visibly affected.

Her story was to the effect that she had never been married to Tonsong. She was the wife of Albert Castevens and had a child now living. She came to Richmond about a year ago and entered the employ of a Mrs. Peterson. After she had been a resident of Richmond for a short time she was approached by Tonsong, who asked her to come and live with him at his mother's home on Sixth street. She consented, but first she went to Tonsong's mother and talked with her about the matter. Mrs. Tonsong gave her consent and so she moved into the Tonsong home and became known in Richmond as the wife of the dead man.

She recounted her visit to the skating rink on the evening of the tragedy, when she found Tonsong skating with another woman. She told of having induced Tonsong to return to the house with her and of the words she had with the slain man previous to the shooting. She said she laid the pistol she was carrying down on the table in the bed room and that Tonsong had made an effort to get it. She said

BUILDING COMMITTEE VISITS FIRE HOUSES

The new building committee from Fire Company No. 2, composed of J. Ogden, C. Evans, J. Willis and J. McMullen, made a trip to the various fire houses a few days ago for the purpose of finding a building which could be built to meet the needs of the local fire company and the people of this city.

The work on the new building will be begun at an early date, as the fire alarm system will soon be installed, which will mean that Company No. 2 will be ready for their new fire hall.

FORMER RESIDENT SECRETARY OF COMMITTEE

Oakland, Sept. 29.—Louis Bonagall, formerly city treasurer of Richmond, but now manager of the Italian Popular Bank, at Eighth and Broadway, has been named secretary of the general committee having charge of the Columbus day celebration in this city, on October 13th.

Queen Isabella of Spain will be impersonated by one of the most popular girls in Oakland at the big celebration which will be held on Lake Merritt and at Lakewood park. It has been decided to have one of the best known young men in the Bay region take the part of King Ferdinand, who ruled Spain with Isabella when Columbus made his historic voyage. To insure the success of the contest M. M. Roach, who has wide experience in this line, has been chosen as official adviser to the fair contestants.

This is only one of a number of innovations which will be introduced at the great fiesta this year. All the committees to handle the various details have been completed and are already hard at work. The elaborate program is expected to attract 100,000 visitors from all sections of the state and result in making Oakland known as a carnival city. Mardi gras features will be given Sunday night, October 12th, on the shores of the lake, to follow the flacollata, or night in Venice, a gorgeous spectacle only less imposing than the voyage of Columbus, which will be held in the afternoon. The fireworks display is to be one of the finest ever seen in the state.

The literary and musical program will be distinctive. Several professors of the University of California and one of the best known orators in the state will take part. A regatta will be among the features of the

SUPERVISOR ASKS FOR AID

WARREN H. M'BRIDE APPEARED BEFORE THE CITY COUNCIL LAST EVENING AND ASKED THE CO-OPERATION OF THE CITY IN THE IMPROVEMENT OF SAN PABLO AVENUE

COUNTY OFFICIAL GIVEN AN OVATION BY MEMBERS OF CITY COUNCIL AND HEADS OF MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENTS—COUNCIL WILL HELP

The members of the city council were agreeable surprised last evening at the unheralded appearance of Supervisor Warren H. M'Brady, of Pinole, who came to Richmond to talk with the municipal lawmakers over the proposition of co-operation with the county in the improvement of San Pablo avenue.

Councilman Follett stated that he, for one, was more than pleased in having a representative of the county board of supervisors appear and ask to co-operate with the city. Although there existed no precedent for the action of the supervisor from this district, the council should be more than willing to work together with the county board.

Part of San Pablo avenue lies within the city limits, from the county line to San Pablo, and it is desirable that the roadway be improved. It is proposed to pave the thoroughfare with oil macadam. The supervisors will do the work from Stage Junction to the crossing of the avenue by the Oakland branch of the Santa Fe railroad.

The city will do all necessary work on its portion of the roadway. The work will be undertaken at an early date.

Which is entitled to the most abuse: the backbone of last winter or the backbone of this summer? To the humble humber it seems both ought to be extruded.

The city will do all necessary work on its portion of the roadway. The work will be undertaken at an early date.

NO LINE ON FAIRVIEW HOTEL BURGLARS

G. WILSON EXONERATED FROM CHARGE

The party or parties who burglarized the Fairview hotel last Sunday night, and who rifled forty rooms of all the valuables in that hostelry, are still at large. It seems that the authorities have not been able to get a single clue as to the identity of the robbers.

George Wilson, whom the police fastened upon as likely to know something about the affair, has been released. That gentleman satisfied the suspicions of the law that he was not engaged in the business of committing burglaries. It is said that Wilson was only in custody for two hours and gave a good account of himself. Wilson is said to be an honest and hardworking painter and why he should have been suspected of having been a party to the hotel robbery is a mystery his friends are unable to understand.

He feels the humiliation of the affair greatly and is much put out at the fact that his name was printed in connection with the alleged burglary. The Record-Herald reporter based the item printed in Monday's issue of the paper on information given him at police headquarters. That Wilson was detained by the police is not denied, although the latter seem to draw a distinction between an arrest and simple detention—really a distinction without a difference.

HARBOR CREAMERY SOLD TO MESSRS. SIKES & RUSSEL BY MAYOR LUDEWIG

The Harbor Creamery, located on Macdonald avenue, between Fifth and Sixth streets, which has been operated by Mayor O. R. Ludewig for some time, was sold today to Messrs. Sikes & Russel, of San Francisco, who will in future conduct the premises.

The new firm will conduct the creamery along the same lines as heretofore and will endeavor to obtain a full share of the public patronage.

Mayor Ludewig gives as his reason for disposing of this lucrative business the fact that he has about all he can handle when he attempts to give his time and attention to his large and profitable meat business.

The cold storage department still remains as part of the Ludewig plant, but will be used jointly by the creamery and meat market.

Good Things From Other Pens

EAT HAY AND BE HAPPY

The following is from the gifted pen of Phil Francis, in the San Francisco Examiner:

"Ever see a pup chase his tail in flea-time? He looks so desperately solemn. And he is so futilely foolish. Some philosophers resemble puppy. Witness these presents from a United Railroads' editorial, urging the people not to build street railways:

"The happiest men and the happiest communities are those who go without what they would like to have."

"Great! So sufficient! And so simple! Tear up the railways, sink the ships, burn the houses, destroy the books, shoot the dog, drown the cat, don a fig leaf, eat hay and let life be one long hallelujah!"

IS WORKING DOUBLE SHIFT

The Mann White Slave Act was enacted in June, 1910. A compilation of prosecutions under it published in the Congressional Record shows that up to March 31st, 1913, virtually five hundred convictions had been obtained under its provision and one hundred and forty cases were pending. The sentences imposed amounted to eight hundred and sixty-eight years in prison, with ninety-two thousands of dollars fines. This is an average of nearly a year and three-quarters in prison for each person convicted. It is an interesting fact that more than one-fifth of all the convictions, or one hundred and fifteen, were obtained in the three Pacific coast states, and that nearly one-eighth are reported from the state of Washington alone. The Mann Act evidently is an effective expression of the new conscience toward an ancient evil.—Durango (Colo.) Democrat.

TIT FOR TAT

A great deal is being said through the neighboring press relative to the "Double Standard." The Herald does not believe in a double standard of morals or laws as applied to men and women. Equal privilege, and equal justice for all should be our motto. Woman should be allowed the same privilege as man. If it is right for men to dress as they please, women should have the same privilege. If men who frequent saloons, gambling dens, houses of prostitution, have illicit relations with many women, and still be accepted without question into the so-called good society and be considered eligible for marriage with some good, pure girl (as is invariably the case) without comment, women should be granted the same privileges.

On the other hand, however, whenever a man is prosecuted, either under the Mann White Slave Act or any other act, for illegal relations with a woman, she should be prosecuted too, and thus taught that the new standard will make her equally responsible with her paramour for any illegal act they may collectively be guilty of. Woman is sometimes as great a temptress as man a tempter.—San Anselmo Herald.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S TRIUMPH

With two Democratic senators fighting his program and thus reducing the party majority in the Senate to three, President Wilson has succeeded in getting a radical revision measure through the upper house. He has done this in spite of the fact that there was strong opposition within his own party to some of the provisions of the bill—particularly to free wool and free sugar.

To be sure, circumstances were in his favor. The Democratic party had received a mandate for tariff revision at the election of 1910, and this was emphasized at the election last year. In the face of such an overwhelming expression of public opinion, the Democratic Congress knew that it must enact a substantial tariff revision or prepare to go out of business.

But with a less intelligent and dominating president it need not have passed a measure so radical as that which the Senate approved recently. Weak-kneed Democratic congressmen expected to get compromises, to save duties on sugar, on wool, on various farm products. Compromises of this sort were successfully put over on the president who held office in 1909.

But Mr. Wilson was too wise to be worked, and too earnest to be jockeyed out of position. The passing of the tariff bill must be regarded as his personal triumph.—Kansas City Star.

Thinkographic Philosophy

A man whose sox have holes through which an eager toe appears,
Has either not been wed at all or else been wed for years.

In California beauty is everywhere magnified. It is almost a fairyland. The yard of every home, whether a modest bungalow or a magnificent mansion, is trim and neat and handsome. Vines and flowers twine about the houses and fences and shrubs adorn the lawns. There is not only cleanliness but a positive beauty effect everywhere—the manifestation of a great and commendable public spirit and love of the beautiful.

A socialistic or musicalistic exchange says that every workman should sing at his bench. No such thing. If every workman in Richmond should start in singing at his bench there would be five thousand of 'em making a noise like a tom-cat chorus. What kind of a steam calliope does our editorial brother think a work-bench is?

Bronze is to go on the free list, so if any of you fellows are contemplating the erection of a bronze statue over our mouldering form when we go on to the land of harps and crowns it won't cost you so much as it did before the Democrats came into power.

If the effect of reducing tariff rates was not to lower or at least keep down the price of commodities, why is the reduction of the tariff rates so strenuously opposed by those who produce and handle the commodities?

"Mexico" is the name of a Huerta organ published in New York. Its editor has a fine old Spanish name—Tom O'Halloran.

An optimist is one who holds that the country is not going to the dogs, but the pessimist thinks the same thing only in a different way—he insists that it has done gone.

We are going to get real mad some day at Joe Baker, and go down there and get a job censoring all the films that come out of his dingy old cell.

Now that they have had rain in Texas and Kansas the people can stop bathing by the vacuum cleaner method to save the water for the next bath.

Judging by the amount of meal they are putting in the barrel some folks expect to have a long rainy day and an over-ripe old age.

The question is open to debate as to whether a lot of these eugenic faddists could pass an examination themselves.

The only things we can think of that are better broken than not is winter's backbone and a drouth.

First aid toward buying an automobile is sometimes a mortgage on the house.

Blessed if we know whether these "Paris creations" are full dress or just undress.

Maybe it is the deadly cigarette that has knocked out Mexico.

We humble editors have some compensations. We get few bouquets and no bombs.

Mr. Diggs will now have to dig for a living.

OFFICERS OF C. E. ELECTED

CROCKETT, Sept. 30.—With the election of officers on Saturday the convention of the Contra Costa Christian Endeavor union came to a close, after one of the most successful meetings in the history of the organization.

At 6 o'clock in the morning a sunrise prayer meeting took place on the hillside near the Crockett school, being conducted by Rev. E. O. Chapel, Evangelistic superintendent. At 8:30 o'clock the convention resumed with a song service, followed by devotional exercises, conducted by Paul C. Brown of Los Angeles, the state secretary.

J. E. White of San Francisco, the state superintendent of temperance and citizenship, addressed the assembly, outlining the work accomplished and the present needs of his department and the manner in which the work could be carried on with more success.

Next came the reports of officers, department superintendents and societies, followed by a solo by Mrs. Brown of Martinez.

"Our Problems" was the theme of interesting remarks by Paul C. Brown, and in the discussion which followed much practical good was accomplished.

The address of W. F. Whitcomb of Fresno, the state superintendent, was closely listened to. His remarks, devoted to the "Quiet Hour," were full of thoughtful sentiments and proved most inspiring to the delegates.

At noon a banquet was tendered the convention by the ladies of the church. Nearly one hundred partook of the ladies' hospitality.

The committee on nominations has recommended the following officers for election at this afternoon's session:

FESTIVAL

(Special Dispatch to Record-Herald) SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—With organizations and communities in every part of the west hurrying their plans for participating in the Portola festival of October 22nd to 25th, the appointment of two more resident Portola commissioners, to co-ordinate plans for participation was announced today. The new commissioners are C. Borie, of Alameda, and Sam Blow, of Napa.

Commissioner Borie has been prominently identified with his city's preparations for sharing in the holiday, being chairman of the finance committee organized to carry out Alameda's plans.

Ben Blow, secretary of the Napa chamber of commerce, secured for his community the distinction of being the first in California, outside of San Francisco, to make definite plans for a float to be entered in the Portola parades.

New features are being announced daily in the preparations for the big celebration, which promises to be not only the most elaborate, but the most widely observed holiday ever held in the west.

Interest in San Francisco now centers upon the Portola Girls' Tour contest—the popularity voting contest which will select the twelve most popular girls employed in San Francisco and vicinity, to be sent upon a ten-day tour of the northwest as the guests of the Portola festival committee.

Bearing California's final Portola invitation to the northwest, these girls will leave San Francisco about October 10th, returning on the eve of the holiday. Elaborate preparations for their reception are being made in Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Victoria and Vancouver, B. C.

MANY LAWYERS LIVE
ON $3 PER WEEK

Seventy per cent of the 16,000 lawyers in Greater New York live on the verge of starvation, with an income of not more than $1.00 a week. "The trouble is overcrowding," according to Benno Lewison, chairman of the membership committee of the New York County Lawyers' association.

"If there were only 6,000 instead of 60,000 their chances of success would be very fair—almost good." He urges young men not to aspire to the bar. To the question: "What, then, would you advise brainy, ambitious young men to do?" he answers: "I consider that the best

STORY OF DULL BOY WHO COULD DRAW

The following story of a dull boy, who lagged behind in his lessons, was told by Miss Lowell, of the San Jose normal school, at the teachers' institute held in Richmond on the 16th instant, and is published at the request of one of the teachers in the Richmond grammar schools. John was in the eighth grade. He was not bad nor troublesome; he was just stupid. His teacher had only one desire, to see that he learned enough to be able to pass out that she might be rid of him.

One day the new teacher came into the room. It was the drawing teacher who instructed each of the classes for twenty minutes each week.

"We have all been accumulating mental pictures. Now I want each one to put on paper the mental picture he seems most clearly."

When the papers were collected at the end of the period the teacher selected an autumn scene—a winding road, a stubble field, a hill beyond capped by a few old trees—all in gold and soft browns.

"Whose picture is this?" It was John's. "Did you copy this from something or is it your own?"

"I saw it," said John.

"Wait. I recognize it. Is it not at the end of the old car line?"

"Yes."

"Why, it is fine."

I wish you could have seen John's face. I wish you could have seen the faces of the other children.

Why this John, the stupid, slow boy, always drudging along somewhere behind the rest, could make real pictures—the best in the room!

When the children marched out, no longer did John slouch along doggedly. With shoulders squared and head erect he marched along, keeping time. For the first time in his life he was "one of them." John had found himself.

opportunity, from a financial standpoint, that a young man of today has, is scientific farming. If he would educate himself for that, he could make himself and his family comfortable, and it would not take him as very long to do it."

As we read the daily papers and see the reports of the thousands of young men who are graduated in law throughout the country, the reflection naturally comes, as the former secretary of agriculture, James Wilson, recently said, what a pity that the great demand of the farm for intelligent men is not being more considered by our educational institutions. There is not law work for more than a small per cent of these young men. No doubt the education and mental training they have will make them bright men, but there are no jobs waiting for them, that is, for more than a small percentage of them, while the fields are crying aloud for trained men.—The Living Church.

Good lighting is as important for the children as good food and pure air.

Electric service with proper lamps and shades, not only means good and economical home lighting, but light that is healthful, clean, safe and convenient.

OAKLAND POLICE TO GIVE BENEFIT DANCE

OAKLAND, Sept. 30.—Among the features of the big annual benefit ball of the Widows and Orphans Association of the Oakland Police department will be the character dances, quartette singing and other stunts by some of the more talented "coppers." These star performers are already rehearsing and promise to be heartily applauded by the great crowd expected from Oakland and all nearby cities. The affair will be given in the pavilion at Idora park, the largest structure in the west, Tuesday night, October 14th, and a general invitation has been extended by Chief of Police W. J. Peterson for everyone to attend.

One of the signs of the interest taken in the coming event is the application of many of the policemen who failed to learn to dance in their more youthful days to be given lessons. Inspector B. A. Wallman, chairman of the floor committee, and one of the leading disciples of tervschore in the department, is in charge.

Another big attraction this year will be the appearance of all the officers in full uniform, instead of the dress suits worn heretofore. The broadcloth uniforms will be thoroughly pressed and cleaned and the stars will be secured for the occasion. That the music will be all that can be desired is shown from the personnel of the committee on music, which is composed of Captain L. F. Agnew, Lieutenant Fred Schroder, Sergeant Robert Forgie, Inspector Dennis Holland, Corporal Al Poulter and Patrolmen Holmberg and Michael Moore.

Captain Thorwald Brown, chairman of the general committee, has appointed all the committee chairmen. The work of beautifying the big pavilion is in the hands of an efficient committee. The lighting effects will be secured by thousands of incandescents.

It is whispered that the neighbors of all the surrounding towns of Alameda and Contra Costa counties will give an absolutely original stunt which is guaranteed to make a hit with the great crowd.

The proceeds of the ball will go into the fund of the association.

Congress has given up hope of shortening the special session, but congress, we may add, has nothing on the rest of the pending populace in that painful particular.

Little Evelyn may be afraid, as her press agent says, but depend on the Angel Child to find a man to protect her. A man, did we say? We did, but early reports indicated there was a platoon of police and the house detectives on the job.

MARIN LEAGUE ENDORSES PLAN

Editor T. Brownhill, of the San Anselmo Herald, was a visitor in Richmond today. Editor Brownhill came over to Richmond to look into the matter of local enthusiasm in the projected ferry from McNear Point to Point San Pablo. He states that the Marin County Promotion league has endorsed the plan and that the people of Richmond should get into the fore and boost the proposition.

Now that the Castro railroad is a reality no time should be lost in seeing to it that Richmond goes on record for the ferry.

BARACA CLASS TO INSTALL OFFICERS

On next Sunday evening the officers of the Brotherhood of the Boys Baraca class will be installed at the evening services of the Wesley Methodist church.

Following the installation of officers of the two organizations P. McCullum of this city will deliver an address, taking for his topic "Unsolved Problems." The girls of the Philathia class of the church will act as ushers during the evening.

INSANITY AND CRIME

Presumably the alienist knows his trade, as certainly he gets paid for it, as did those who used their skill and knowledge of insanity in the interest of Harry K. Thaw. Of course they caused him some trouble later on, and asked hypothetical questions and were otherwise disagreeable, but in the first result they earned their fee, be it ever so large, which it was.

And now another noted criminal, Schmidt, the murdering, counterfeit-forging, forging priest, promises to try the insanity dodge as a way of avoiding the chair from which those who sit do not rise. Mere men, familiar with criminals, do not believe Schmidt insane, but the verdict of the alienists has not been delivered, and it is more important in affecting the general result. But there is a general demand that such a monstrous crime pay the full penalty, and an insanity dodge would not be accepted by people as a rule.

Yet, as above stated, presumably the alienist knows his business. To the normal man who sins his minor sins, but is generally a good citizen, it does seem that the criminal is crazy in a way; crazy to think he can dodge the consequences, even by feigning sanity.—Exchange.

THE BOW IN THE BACK

It is a fairly common masculine trait to prefer an old hat to a new one, and yet a man feels he must invest in a new lid when the season and fashion changes, to prove he has the price. And to a man who must shave daily to keep his whiskers in reasonable restraint, and is possessed of other virile and violent characteristics, the latest styles are more painful than usual. The effeminate appearance of the bow in the back is intended to make the average masculine animal feel like a sissy and a mollycoddle.

But that is the law laid down by the fashion dictators, to whom men are slaves no less than women, or not enough less to help much. Nor are the feminist frills limited to the bow in the back, or the headgear of recent vintage. A prominent authority states the nearer a man looks like his name were Algernon, the more nearly he conforms to the fall fashions. His coat should be cut narrow at the shoulders and built to give him a stoop-shouldered effect, while the trousers are designed to make his seem a spindleshanks. Done in these dashing decorations, he is supposed to stroll soulfully along with about the same display of old pep common to consumptives.

Mrs. A. Baker, mother of the piano tuner, had a blood vessel break internally today, and as a result was sent to the Oakland emergency hospital for treatment. The accident happened in Oakland while the lady was on a shopping tour. She is reported to be in a precarious condition.

Local Mention

Pertinent remarks about well-known people in Richmond and happenings about town.

Miss Georgia Yull, formerly of this city, has gone to Sebastopol.

Allen O. DuBre, from Fairmead, was a visitor in Richmond today.

Supervisor Warren McBryde was a visitor in this city last evening to attend the council meeting.

The Misses Katherine and Fannie Brothers are visiting in this city at the home of J. Brothers, on Washington avenue.

Isaac Lester, the well known realty operator of this city, is spending a few weeks on a motoring trip through Sonoma county.

Mrs. R. P. Dammond, wife of the well known photographer, has returned from Portland, where she has been visiting with relatives and friends.

Antone Silvas, an employee of the Hutchinson company, was caught in a scraper yesterday, and sustained a fracture of his left leg. The injured man was taken to the Abbott hospital for treatment.

The University Extension society, recently organized in Richmond, has taken up the matter of calling a mass meeting with the city council to publicly discuss civic improvements. The members of the council look with favor upon the proposition.

It is reported that Isaac Lester, the real estate man, who is making an auto trip through the vicinity of Sonoma, this state, has run afoul of the law and has been "pinched" for exceeding the speed limit. He paid a fine of $10.

The shoe stock of Herbert J. Grundy, which is being moved from the Richmond Shoe store at the corner of Twelfth street and Macdonald avenue to the Burtland building, is rapidly being accomplished, and Grundy hopes to be in his new store in about another week.

Poundmaster Smith, who has been kept on the jump for the past few days killing and gathering in the dogs of this city, this morning shot another dog that showed signs of having the rabies. Smith will soon have his night dog catching service in action, with which he hopes to gather in nearly all of the canines now roaming the streets of this city after dark.

MIRAMAR CHAPTER TO ENTERTAIN THIS EVE.

This evening the members of Miramar chapter of the Eastern Star will hold a social in Fraternal hall. The members of the order have spent the entire day in decorating the hall for the occasion, which promises to be a big event.

The program for the evening is as follows: Piano solo by Mrs. F. Smith; vocal solo by Mr. L. L. Farrell; string quartette, Dr. Martin; leader; vocal solo by Dr. Scroggs; reading by Mrs. F. E. Adams; vocal solo by Mrs. Shaw; selection by male quartette. Following the program dancing will take place which will last until a late hour. At the close of the evening's entertainment a late hour luncheon will be served by the committee in charge of the affair.

CITY ENGINEERS SNAPPED IN REMARKABLE PHOTOGRAPH BENEATH HANGING BRICK ROADWAY. FREAK OF FLOOD

Two views of hanging road at Tinkers creek.

This remarkable picture, taken at the recent paving conference in Cleveland, illustrates what city engineers and road builders traveled from all over the country to see. It is a brick pavement on the country road at the side of a stream called Tinkers creek, bereft by flood of the supporting subsoil and concrete base. The pavement still holds up with sufficient strength to support an automobile. The overhanging shelf is eighty feet long and eight feet in width. The conference was held in Cleveland because the paved roadway occupied a prominent place in the program. Much of the delegates' time was spent out of doors in studying actual demonstration of road construction.

WINTERS TRIAL IS POSTPONED

The trial of Adolph Winters, the local florist, who is charged by a number of his neighbors with shooting fire arms within the city limits, which was to have come up before Police Judge Lindsey tomorrow morning, has been postponed.

City Attorney Hall is handling the case for the people, while Winters will be represented by Attorney T. D. Johnston.

CITY COUNCIL HAS REGULAR SESSION

about what is intended in Richmond in the improvement line.

Garage Permit Filed

W. M. Cutain filed a request with the council for a permit to erect a corrugated iron garage building on Santa Fe avenue, near Richmond avenue. The request was referred to the building committee for investigation.

Sixth Street Paving

In the matter of the request of property owners for the improvement of Sixth street, from Ohio street to Cutting boulevard, the council rescinded its previous action to have the street paved with bituminous pavement and ordered that oil macadam be used instead. This action was taken in accordance with the recommendation of the street committee.

Committee Asks for Time

The light committee asked for further time to investigate the petition of residents of Washington avenue, on the bay side of the hill, for an arc light.

Contractor Assigns Job

The city council consented to the assignment of a contract by W. J. Charles, for the improvement of Eleventh street, to G. W. Cushing. An extension of thirty days was also given to complete the work.

Band Request Goes Over

The request of the Richmond band for an appropriation from the city for band concerts during the next summer, which request has been in the hands of the finance committee for some time, went over another week at the request of the committee. Mr. Hartnett stated that an opinion from the city attorney concerning the legality of any action of the city in the matter of appropriating public money for the purpose of helping the band was desired. H. B. Kister, representing the band, appeared before the council and urged action.

Will Open Golden Gate

The city engineer was instructed by the council to prepare specifications for the opening of Golden Gate avenue from Santa Fe avenue to Washington avenue.

That Laundry Nuisance

The committee appointed at a previous meeting of the city council to investigate the complaint of residents of the vicinity of Ripley avenue and Sixth street at the smoke nuisance caused by the Richmond Union Laundry filed a report in which it is recommended that the laundry owners be compelled to raise their smokestack. The sanitary conditions in the neighborhood of the laundry were found to be good.

Complain of Work

Property owners on South Thirteenth street filed a petition with the council in which they complained of the poor quality of the top dressing on that street, which, they claimed, was breaking up. The matter was referred to the city engineer and street committee and a report will be made at the next meeting of the council.

Present Petition for Contract

The Hutchinson company presented a petition to the council last evening signed by property owners on A, B, and C streets, between Barrett and Negin avenues, for a private contract for the improvement of those thoroughfares. The petitions were signed by 73 per cent of the property holders. Mr. Zimmerman, who had signed the contract, made an objection to the work being done by private contract. Several of the members of the board spoke against letting the work by private contract. The petition was denied by the board. The work will be done by public contract and bids will be opened on October 13th.

Castro Street Work

Bids for the filling in of Castro street from Standard avenue to the chemical works were opened as follows:

|               |       |
|---------------|-------|
| A. M. Coleman | $325 |
| J. D. Paris   | 800   |
| J. H. Hine    | 775   |

Hine was declared to be the lowest bidder and the contract was awarded to him.

License Transferred

The saloon license of Fine & Lewis at 308 Macdonald avenue was transferred to S. D. Brasch and A. Nelson on the petition of the latter.

Lights on Vehicles

All horse drawn vehicles which

DWELLING IN EAST RICHMOND BURNS

Shortly after 12 o'clock last evening an alarm of fire was sounded which awakened many slumbering Richmondites on the east side. The fire was located near the corner of Twenty-first street and Montgomery avenue. When the fire truck arrived on the scene of the blaze it was found that the home of J. J. Johnson was ablaze. The fire had gained too much headway and it was found impossible for the fire boys to anything but save adjoining property.

The fire was caused by the explosion of some phosphorous rat poison that the owner of the home had attempted to heat on the stove.

When a man realizes he isn't as young as he used to be, he consoles himself with the thought that he has more sense. Sweet are the uses of a vivid imagination.

Senator Bristow has had a great deal to say in the tariff debates in the senate. Possibly he is so busy saying all that he hasn't had time to announce whether he will be a Republican or a Bull Moose candidate next year.

are operated on the streets of the city after nightfall will be required to carry a lantern on the side of the wagon if the council passes the amendment to the traffic ordinance which Councilman Follett asked City Attorney Hall to draft at the meeting of the board last evening. Ordinances similar to this are in force in Oakland, Sacramento and other cities in the state.

To Attend League

The city will pay the expenses of all heads of departments and of the councilmen who wish to attend the annual convention of the league of California Municipalities which meets next week at Venice, near Los Angeles. Among those who will make the trip south are Councilmen Penry, Pleton, Willis and Fernald; Chief of Police James P. Arnold, Health Officer Blake, Treasurer I. R. Vaughn, Engineer H. D. Chapman and Auditor McVittie.

INVITATIONS OUT FOR EUKALALA DANCE TO FEATURE MUSIC AND DECORATIONS

Catchy music, novel decorations and delightful punch will be some of the attractions offered at the coming Eukalala club dance, which is to be held in the East Shore park pavilion on the evening of October 18th.

This is the second annual ball of the Eukalala club, and the jolly members of that body are planning to make the dance one of the most elite given in this city. The decorating scheme of the evening is to be somewhat of a novelty, in that the entire hall will be covered with a profusion of Japanese lanterns and greens. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the park orchestra. The dance is to be strictly invitational, and all who wish to attend the ball had better see one of the committee and receive one of the invitations, which are nice themselves. Those who will wear the floor ribbons on that evening are W. Hughes, F. Jones, W. Imbach, H. Stetson and D. Cummings.

DENATURED ALCOHOL
WHAT THE STUFF IS

What is denatured alcohol? Frequent references to it are seen in the daily papers and magazines, but few know very much about it. Everyone knows what ordinary alcohol is. It is also called grain or ethyl alcohol.

Most governments derive a large revenue from the sale of ordinary alcohol, and its retail price is very high; yet the cost of manufacture is small. In the United States it sells for about $2.40 a gallon. It can be made from corn for less than 20 cents a gallon. The difference between cost and selling price represents the internal revenue tax and the profit of the wholesale dealer and middleman.

Apart from its use in making whiskey and other beverages, grain alcohol is a most useful liquid, and in most countries is widely employed for industrial purposes—as a fuel, in hat and whip factories, in making varnishes, for cleaning metals, paint, woodwork, in color, chemical and dye works, etc. That grain alcohol may be sold as cheaply as possible for domestic and other purposes, most countries have an untaxed grain alcohol, mixed with wood spirit, benzine or other agents that render it unfit for drinking purposes, and yet permit of its use in the various industries. This is denatured alcohol, a specially prepared grain alcohol selling for about 50 cents a gallon; cheap because untaxed. Before the introduction of denatured alcohol, people had to choose between paying $2.40 a gallon for domestic alcohol, or using the poisonous, vile-smelling wood (methyl) alcohol; or they could use the equally poisonous "deodorized" form, which sells at about the same price as denatured alcohol.

About 1890 a comparatively cheap method of "deodorizing" the ill-smelling and vile-tasting wood alcohol was discovered, and under various names, such as "Columbian spirits," "purified wood alcohol," "colonial spirits," "standard wood spirits," "cologne spirits," "union spirits," "eagle spirits," "green wood spirits," etc., this violent poison was put on sale. It was widely and shrewdly advertised and all sorts of virtues were claimed for it, the chief being that it was a cheap and comparatively harmless substitute for ordinary ethyl or grain alcohol. It could be used instead of grain alcohol in making varnishes, liniments, tinctures, hair-dyes, etc., and as a fuel in lamps and stoves. At first its poisonous character was denied in toto. This led to its use in the manufacture of Jamaica ginger, essence of lemon, liniments, alcoholic extracts, cheap whiskey and proprietary "remedies."

Soon stores of sudden death as well as of total and incurable blindness following the use of this horrible poison began to appear. It was not until a wholesale drug firm in Baltimore had been mulcted in heavy damages for using "deodorized" wood spirit as a substitute for the four-times-as-expensive grain alcohol in the manufacture of Jamaica ginger that the trade began "to sit up and take notice."

Later, examples of wholesale poisoning began to be reported. Parties of all classes of people—workmen, picnickers, bar-room habitués, Indians, etc.—indulging in cheap whiskey and its substitutes died or became blind. Still later it was found that unfortunate painters, especially shellackers of beer-vats, working in confined and unventilated places, were stricken with blindness, and an investigation proved that the befouled, re-breathed and methylated atmosphere was responsible for the result. About the time twenty persons were poisoned in Kentucky, an equal number of wood-alcohol victims were, within twenty-four hours, killed and blinded in Dorpat, Russia. As a result of these "accidents," agitation against the unrestrained sale of this poison was begun.

Denatured alcohol is as cheap or cheaper than Columbian spirits or any other kind of "deodorized" wood alcohol, and can be bought at drug stores wherever the "deodorized" poisons are on sale. There is no longer any excuse for the sale of "deodorized" wood spirits. Its manufacture should be prohibited by law. It serves no purpose that "denatured" alcohol will not serve and its existence is a menace to public health.

STANDARD OIL CO. DEFINES ITS POSITION

The Standard Oil company of California has defined for its inquiring stockholders, who, it says, now number 5,600 individuals, its position with regard to the pipe-line acts, passed by the last state legislature. In substance, its explanation amounts to a statement that the management did not care to risk incurring the penalties prescribed in these laws by an appeal to the courts. Incidentally much information of a financial character is given. The statement is made that the Standard Oil company spent more than $14,000,000 in exploring the California oil fields "before receiving one dollar of profit in return," and that the enterprise today represents an outlay of "about $70,000,000." Its annual corporate franchise tax amounts to $84,870. Under the pipe-line acts, it says, the company would be required to pay an additional tax of 50 cents a barrel on all oil carried, or "devote its pipe-lines to public use." Its printed statement concludes as follows: "This tax of 50 cents a barrel is more than the original price of the oil. On the business now done by the company it would amount to about $1,000,000 a month. By the time a final decision could be reached in the courts, the total of these exactions would likely reach $50,000,000, if the business continued as now—and the recall might be threatened or invoked against any judge who decided against the legality of these license fees."

It did not seem prudent to subject the stockholders to these risks of litigation. They will have to bear any losses resulting to the business of the company under these pipe-line acts. The officers of the company realize that these are serious questions, but the legislature, and not they, is responsible for them.

With reference to the foregoing statement, the independent oil producers, who testified at the recent pipe-line investigation before the railroad commission, await on the fact that these new laws would really benefit rather than injure the Standard Oil company of California, because the corporation, having profited by the experience gained by the parent company in the eastern oil fields had so laid out its pipe-lines that they all terminate in the company's own refineries on large tracts of land owned by the Standard Oil. If oil belonging to private individuals were transported through the S. O. pipe-lines, the shipper would be confronted with the dilemma on the arrival of the oil at the terminal point either of selling it to the Standard or carting it away in tank wagons. The theory of the other smaller pipe-line companies and the independent producers' agency is that the true reason the Standard has accepted these new laws without protest and is the only important company that has done so, is because the Standard Oil will profit vastly by its competitors being forced into the position of common carriers, conveying all kinds of oil of all kinds of grades to tidewater; whereas, nobody will be able to utilize the S. O. pipe-lines with profit, except the S. O. company itself, just as at present.

THE ROAD OF A THOUSAND STRIPES

All summer through, in a helpless sort of way, I watched them building the road that I shall call "The Road of a Thousand Stripes."

These men were men of brawn and muscle, men of hard oaths and rough lives. They were the creatures of their environment. They were tanned and hairy, and they were ignorantly cruel.

They brought horses and mules, great clumsy creatures, scarred and bearing the marks of many a merciless blow.

And so the work began.

There was stone by the thousands of tons to lift, pull, pry, push, out. There were plows to force through the stubborn clay; there were fills to make and hills to level.

And the whole story of the building of The Road of a Thousand Stripes was written in ridges and welts on the hides of the dumb brutes.

From early morning till the day ended one could hear the sound of blows and echoing groans. It was "Go long there," and a blow; "Get up there, mule!" and a slash with the great whip.

That's the way roads are built in ten thousand places. Built on the suffering of animals. You know it and I know it.

In the days of quivering heat the poor beasts suffered more deeply. There was no respite, no mercy, no pity—not an atom of kindness. Not even water.

A horse was made to use, and wear out, to die, and be replaced by another horse.

It was pathetic, when the day's work was done, to watch the procession. No need of drivers to direct these brutes. They dragged one foot after the other, painfully, carrying their quivering muscles and tortured flesh to the stable, where there would be food and, at least, rest till the next day's hell opened.

A new torture was invented. The whip failed to arouse enough energy, so these men who were building The Road of a Thousand Stripes bombarded the animals with rocks and filthy lumps of dirt. That made them pull harder.

I pray the good God that the day be hastened when invention shall have wiped out horse labor everywhere.

Some day there will be gay homes along The Road of a Thousand Stripes. Children will play on the cement walks, and there will be flowers in the yards, and doves will coo on the roofs. Women will sing their happiness. And a city will give the new street a musical name and people will say: "What peaceful and beautiful place!"

But for me it will always be "The Road of a Thousand Stripes."

ENGINEERS ARE AT HERCULES

PINOLE, Sept. 30.—The state highway engineers are at work in this vicinity and have reached a point just above Hercules. The survey which began more than a month ago has been delayed by grades between this point and San Pablo, but this difficulty had been overcome and the corps, under the direction of the assistant chief engineer, is now pushing toward the county seat, which point of destination they expect to reach within a month. The work is progressing carefully and the engineers are obtaining a route that will prove one of the most attractive in the state. They will follow a direct course along the water front through Crockett and Port Costa to Martinez.

JUDGE ORDERS MAN BROUGHT TO MARTINEZ

MARTINEZ, Sept. 30.—On motion of District Attorney A. B. McKensie yesterday morning, Superior Judge R. H. Latimer made an order for Alfred Nelson, beaten by Burns detectives last week, to be brought here from Yuba county as a witness at the preliminary hearing to take place on Friday.

DR. BLAKE WRITES ON CARE OF BABIES

(Contributed by Richmond Health Department.)

Growing children, like growing plants, thrive best in fresh air. Keep the baby in the open air all day during the hot weather. Let it sleep out-doors in a shaded place away from dust and strong winds and protected against flies.

When baby must be in the house, have the windows screened and keep them open.

Don't let baby be in the kitchen when you are cooking or washing. A clothes-basket makes a good and handy sleeping place for baby. Place it out-doors and cover it with mosquito netting.

Shield the baby from a bright, hot sun.

Keep babies away from crowds and crowded places. Young babies get "catching diseases" easily.

Clean milk, pure water, freedom from flies, light dressing, fresh air and sunshine, regular feeding and sleeping hours—these are factors which prevent undertaking bills and stop the sale of "little short coffins."

Two thousand five hundred little white monuments stand in California cemeteries accusing us of negligence and ignorance. Shall these warnings be wasted? Let us do our part right now to prevent a duplication of that record.

The way to swat the fly is to swat the filth, and the way to swat the filth is to swat the filth-maker. Now is the time to swat the filth-maker.

Property values are affected by neighborhood cleanliness. Dirt depreciates values.

Many a house with a swell front has a swell back. Take a look at the back yard.

The stable fly carries the germ of infantile paralysis. Put the garbage hauler and chloride of lime on his trail—they will get him.

There is no greater nuisance in any city than a poorly kept stable. "Few men are living today; most of them are preparing to live another day." Are you? Then don't shirk work. Keep cleaning up.

The crank of today is the sage of tomorrow. Our special brand of "crankiness" is community cleanliness. Get in out band wagon and attain a reputation for wisdom.

If you know of any unsanitary conditions, or have any complaint to make, call at the health office, or phone 3021, and we will give it our immediate attention. "That's our business."

WOMAN SLAYER TELLS A PITIFUL STORY

that she seized the pistol and there was a tussle. She remembered the pistol going off and Tensing falling to the floor. She did not recollect having pulled the trigger of the pistol and at the time she did not intend to shoot him.

She testified that after she saw what had happened she grabbed the pistol and then shot herself.

On re-direct examination, when her attorney attempted to bring out the details of the treatment she had received at the hands of the deceased, whom it was claimed was a sexual pervert, she became nervous and confused and finally fainted. A recess was taken for fifteen minutes to give the defendant time to recover her composure.

After the recess the defendant again took the stand, but her attorneys made no effort to bring out any additional testimony regarding the immoral acts of the deceased.

It is expected that the defendant's testimony will be concluded this evening and that the case will be finished and given to the jury by tomorrow afternoon.

MAYOR LUDEWIG CLIMBS FOURTEEN STORIES THEN CLIMBS DOWN AGAIN

Mayor Otto R. Ludewig says he never passes the Oakland skyscraper city hall without cold shudders running Marathon races up and down his backbone. And he has good reason to pass that imposing structure in our neighboring city with dread.

The story the mayor tells on himself to his friends is as follows:

Last week Richmond's chief executive had occasion to go to Oakland to see about getting his chief sausage maker, who has been incarcerated in the city prison on top of the Oakland city hall for some offense, bailed out, as Mr. Ludewig needed his services in his Richmond meat market. He called on the desk sergeant and informed that official what he wanted and was greatly disappointed to find out that when you approach an Oakland policeman you must first perform a genuflection, salute and then state what your business is.

Mayor Ludewig had neglected to do all this and was told by the sergeant that he was too busy to talk. The mayor then went to a friend in the city hall who knew him, and they both returned to the desk sergeant's office, where the mayor was introduced. The police official was profuse in his apologies when he was informed that Mr. Ludewig was the mayor of Richmond, and he straightway wrote out a permit allowing the mayor to visit the prison in the fourteenth story of the city hall.

Mr. Ludewig was directed to go to the elevator, but he found that contrivance to be out of order, and finally concluded to try walking up the fourteen stories of the big edifice. He started up and after an hour of painful and enervating climbing he arrived at the uttermost top of the city hall. He was met by the turnkey, who, in a brusque manner, inquired what he wanted. The mayor presented his permit and was informed by the turnkey that it was against the rules for anyone to visit the city prison by climbing up the stairs and that if he wanted to talk to a prisoner he would have to go downstairs and come up the elevator. Mr. Ludewig explained that the elevator had refused to elevate him and that he had climbed the stairs with the expenditure of a great deal of his energy and would like to know if the rules could not be suspended this time.

The turnkey emphatically said "No." Mayor Ludewig then descended the fourteen stories and presented himself at the elevator, which seemed to be running this time and he once more went to the top.

He saw the sausage maker and transacted what business he had in mind and departed for his home town, where the buildings are not so high but what one can climb to the top without walking his legs off, and where municipal officers are more courteous.

Harry Thaw regards the publicity feature of his case most important and there can be no doubt that little Evelyn's press agent feels the same way about it.

HERMAN SONS ATTENTION

Ignorance will soon be an excuse for law violations; the Massachusetts legislature adopted an even thousand new ones this year, and nearly all the other states do half that bad.
